Cindy was glad when she saw the _____ about the Christmas musical. She'd wanted to try out for the lead role for years. But her friends Laura and Beth said they were getting too old for such things. As a result, Cindy didn't tell them her plans. The day of the audition, Cindy still didn't have the _____ to tell them. At the audition in the huge _____, all her practice paid off: she got the lead role! That weekend, Cindy wanted to practice, so she lied to her friends. For weeks, she rehearsed with the rest of the _____ and by herself. When she turned down an invitation to Beth's birthday party, her friends were angry. Cindy felt bad, but she had to prepare. The day of the musical, she had _____ in her stomach. She felt even worse when she saw her friends in the audience! Cindy's parents had told them. Cindy performed wonderfully. After the musical, they congratulated her, and the three girls were best friends again.
