

| 단어         | 품사   | 한글뜻           | 영문뜻                                                             | 예문                                                                        |
|------------|------|---------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| bake       | verb | 빵, 과자등을 굽다    | to cook something in an oven                                    | Sue baked a cake to give to her friends.                                  |
| decoration | noun | 장식, 꾸밈        | the act of decorating a thing or place                          | The decorations made the Christmas tree look even more beautiful.         |
| delicious  | adj  | 맛있는, 맛있는      | extremely good tasting                                          | Wow! This spaghetti is delicious.                                         |
| imagine    | verb | 상상하다, 마음에 그리다 | to form ideas or images in your head that are not real          | Relax and try to imagine the sound of waves.                              |
| faraway    | adj  | 먼             | very far away in space or time                                  | Brad lives in the faraway countryside.                                    |
| creature   | noun | 생물, 창조물       | a living thing that is not a plant                              | What a strange creature! Do you think it's a plant or an animal?          |
| float      | verb | 뜨다            | to rest or move on a liquid without sinking beneath the surface | Captain Nemo was waiting for high tide so the Nautilus could float again. |
| spaceship  | noun | 우주선           | a rocket or vehicle that can fly through space                  | There is a spaceship in this movie.                                       |
| puppet     | noun | 꼭두각시, 작은 인형   | a doll that is moved by strings or your hands                   | It is hard to control a puppet.                                           |
| string     | noun | 끈, 줄, 실       | thick thread                                                    | The kite is tied to a long string.                                        |